
The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/15 05:04

Ok, so for the new tour what bands would you like to see open for the pumpkins...(as if they need any help).

List 3 Bands you would want to see in order leading up to SP taking the stage.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by PistolPete - 2006/11/15 06:07

Wolfmother

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Alienbob - 2006/11/15 08:42

i was just thinking about this the other day...

wolfmother would be cool. Heh, i'd say Weezer but that won't happen. Maybe Tenacious D if they ever get back on the road.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/15 08:50

Alienbob link=topic=757.msg11475#msg11475 date=1163608952]

i was just thinking about this the other day...

wolfmother would be cool. Heh, i'd say Weezer but that won't happen. Maybe Tenacious D if they ever get back on the road.

My second favorite band in the world!!!!!! Tenacious D does have a movie coming out on the 22nd so we may get a few tour dates. I have seen them on the road and I have the DVD of them in the studio and on tour. Tenacious D kicks everyones ass out today and you can quote me on that!!!!!!

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by PistolPete - 2006/11/15 09:06

I love Tenacious D, but not a good fit for a Pumpkins show.

Who is the band on the Pumpkins myspace, The Silversun Pickups?? Maybe its going to be them.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/15 09:24

You dont think they would rock as a first act...you know some real bands follow - then the Pumpkins experience?

What about the Tenacious D All-stars? (J.B., K.G., Dave Grohl, Page McConnell of Phish, Warren Fitzgerald, and Steve McDonald)

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by PistolPete - 2006/11/15 09:58

I guess your right. I've never seen Tenacious D live before, so I don't know how their shows are.

Personally I'd rather have no opening band. Let the Pumpkins come on early and play a longer show.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by disarm - 2006/11/15 12:29

My Morning Jacket were pretty good with Pearl Jam, but I don't really listen to any of their stuff besides the show I saw them at.

Maybe Audioslave? That would be pretty cool.

Raconteurs, maybe... Just wild guesses.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Teej212 - 2006/11/15 12:47

Dispatch
Muse
Franz Ferdinand
British Sea Power
The Music

All great bands, all british, except Dispatch sorry, three was not enough!!!

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by PistolPete - 2006/11/15 14:05

Muse would be awesome. Dispatch is a good choice too.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by yteah - 2006/11/15 14:34

you should know who i pick by now, i shant say their name for the millionth time though, it would be an awesome show, and then c.s would jam with them on silverfuck at the end :yay

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Alienbob - 2006/11/15 20:35

heh, tenacious D toured with Weezer for a little bit. During surfwax america j.b and kyle came out in their underpants and did an interpretive dance. that'd be very cool for silverfuck.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by manders4001 - 2006/11/15 20:41

PistolPete link=topic=757.msg11478#msg11478 date=1163610376]
I love Tenacious D, but not a good fit for a Pumpkins show.

Who is the band on the Pumpkins myspace, The Silversun Pickups?? Maybe its going to be them.

Critics have compared them to the Pumpkins, so that would be a good choice. They've said that "Lazy Eye" is the Silversun Pickups's "Zero".

I suggest Be Your Own Pet, Bloc Party, The Silversun Pickups, Clinic, Stars, TV on the Radio, Yeah Yeah Yeahs, and Spoon.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/16 04:28

PistolPete link=topic=757.msg11483#msg11483 date=1163613511]
I guess your right. I've never seen Tenacious D live before, so I don't know how their shows are.

They Kick ASS!!!!

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/16 04:46

PistolPete link=topic=757.msg11483#msg11483 date=1163613511]
I guess your right. I've never seen Tenacious D live before, so I don't know how their shows are.

They Kick ASS!!!!

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=1744372389164412684&q=tenacious+d>

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-1327039875463073581&q=tenacious+d>

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=7200793677904732736&q=tenacious+d>

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Alienbob - 2006/11/16 06:20

oooh, the yeah yeah yeahs would be a cool act to see with the pumpkins.

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Felix - 2006/11/16 10:28

Red Hot Chilis would be good!

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Shame - 2006/11/16 15:08

Have you checked out the pumpkins myspace recently because they're now playing other bands songs that they're in to. At the moment its The Boxer Rebellion, for example. Mabe they'll tour with one of these less known bands to help promote them.

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by yourmom3000 - 2006/11/16 15:20

Wolfmother

Radiohead

The Cranberries

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by disarm - 2006/11/16 16:09

yourmom3000 link=topic=757.msg11575#msg11575 date=1163719258]

Wolfmother

Radiohead

The Cranberries

I really don't think Radiohead would be an option. They're too big to be opening for a band of almost equal popularity. And I don't like Wolfmother. At all. Cranberries might be alright though...

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by yourmom3000 - 2006/11/16 16:23

Well these aren't supposed to be rational suggestions.....right?

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/17 04:49

yourmom3000 link=topic=757.msg11580#msg11580 date=1163723001]

Well these aren't supposed to be rational suggestions.....right?

Right - Name whoever you'd WISH to see.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/17 04:52

I choose

Tenacious D - Just to get things started

Death Cab for Cutie

ColdPlay

New Order

Foo Fighters

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Eye - 2006/11/19 15:57

Tenacious D would not be good opener for SP. Three opening bands would be kind of excessive. I would suggest a band like Garbage, but now they are too big to be opener for Pumpkins (although they did for U2, but then again, U2 has more fans than SP, so a greater gap between Garbage and them). Plus Garbage is on hiatus.

Here is a few possible bands:

-Ivy (includes Adam Schelsinger from Fountains of Wayne and Scratchie Records): <http://www.myspace.com/ivy>

-Doves- a great band I really like from the UK, although they are not influenced by SP or a related artist, so I don't see this happening (<http://www.doves.net>)

-Kill Hannah-Chicago rock veterans, and some of the members are influenced by SP (namely Mat and Greg). Billy has given them advice in the past about music, and apparently they have heard some initial recordings from SP's sessions for the new album. At Act IV in 2001, Billy introduced them and said "Unlike me, they are the future of Chicago rock". <http://www.myspace.com/killhannah>

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by whyIHOP - 2006/11/19 22:55

I would personally love for The Mars Volta to tour with the pumpkins, either them or Queens of the Stone age, but for some reason i think they have already toured with them. Maybe I am just insane
But hey I would probably rather have a new band that I didn't know about open for them. If they kick ass then maybe I'll expand my musical horizon.

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Jardougman - 2006/11/19 23:09

I think the best bands to open for the pumpkins would be Muse and Audioslave. If I had to pick a third, I might say deathcab for cutie, but for some reason i don't see them touring with the pumpkins. I also think it would completely rock if they had no opening acts and just played a really long show. Holy crap, I can't wait to finally get to see the pumpkins live!

:heart :heart :heart :heart

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/20 03:43

Ok Oasis is back so that changes things:

Tenacious D - Just to get things started

Oasis
ColdPlay
New Order
Foo Fighters

(I Don't Care Who Hates on Tenacious D - They Are Opening My Show.)

U Either Get 'Em or You Don't

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Eye - 2006/11/20 13:39

Even though I don't personally listen to Tenacious D, I am not saying that they shouldn't open for SP because I 'hate them', its because of objectively or subjectively, they simply aren't a good fit with the Pumpkins style. Just like Grant Lee Buffalo wasn't when they opened for SP in 96. I wish I would have been able to see Garbage or Fountains of Wayne open for them instead like they did on other parts of the tour. But I suppose you can keep dreaming ;)

Yes, Queens of the Stone Age opened for them before, during The Arising! Tour in spring 1999.

There is one band that I did not mention which I think I can plausibly mention-Remy Zero. They would be a perfect fit! Some of you Remy Zero fans maybe thinking, 'well didn't they break up as well?'. Yes, they did, but apparently we have been in a cave (or at least I have), they are indeed reuniting! The Pumpkin Queen brought it to my attention when I responded to one of her blogs on her myspace, saying she had great taste in music for liking Remy Zero, but that it was too bad they had broken up. Someone reminded me that Remy Zero may have even opened for Zwan a couple of times. Also, Remy Zero has a good relationship with Metro, I seem to remember hearing that they were friends with one of the talent buyers. Not to mention, that Billy was once quoted as saying that "Prophecy" was the best song of 1998.

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by cherry - 2006/11/20 20:33

1st- QOTSA
2nd- Sonic Youth
3rd- Foo Fighters

... This would be a concert that I would honestly do anything to get tickets for. I would seel drugs, prostitute, or be a hitman. Dead Serious.

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by yourmom3000 - 2006/11/20 20:37

Speaking of Garbage opening for people I went to this concert of the Japanese "Polysics," and touring with them was "Los Abandoned." After the concert I thought back and knew that the warm up band was better than Polysics. I saw Los Abandoned after the show and asked them stuff about their music and they said prior to this tour they were the opening band for Garbage and said the people from Garbage were really nice and stuff ^_^ . Just thought I'd throw that around :yay

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Eye - 2006/11/20 22:49

Cool. Yeah I get the impression that the Garbage crew are nice, although I have never met them. They just radiate that kind of energy, or something like that :P. I finally got see Garbage perform last year. It was fantastic, except for the fact that they played "Cherry Lips", which is one of the songs I dislike the most on BeautifulGarbage. I didn't like that album in general, but there were a few good tracks on there I would have liked hearing live (eg. Parade, Cup of Cofee, Breaking up the Girl, So like A Rose). If I am remember correctly, they also did not play my favorite song off of Bleed Like Me, "Run, Baby, Run". oh well. It was a fantastic show.

Now since Billy is apparently working with Shirley Manson on her solo record, she is a possibility for an opener. The caveat is that it would require her solo record to not come completely out of left field. It's good not to repeat Garbage, but it's also not good if she strays to far into the territory explored some of my least favorite songs on BeautifulGarbage ;).

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Ruby - 2006/11/21 23:06

whyIHOP link=topic=757.msg11750#msg11750 date=1164005722]

I would personally love for The Mars Volta to tour with the pumpkins, either them or Queens of the Stone age, but for some reason i think they have already toured with them. Maybe I am just insane
But hey I would probably rather have a new band that I didn't know about open for them. If they kick ass then maybe I'll expand my musical horizon.

everybody sucks ass but you hahahaha....tmv would be good, but i think it will be someone a little more obscure...i cant wait to see the mars volta though...fuckin postponed til march...and in their favourite country too! part of the new album was recorded in melbourne

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by yourmom3000 - 2006/11/22 01:26

everybody sucks ass but you hahahaha....

:(

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Ruby - 2006/11/22 02:30

your mamas on the top of my things to do list :)

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Believe - 2006/11/22 02:55

Eye link=topic=757.msg11769#msg11769 date=1164058798]

Even though I don't personally listen to Tenacious D, I am not saying that they shouldn't open for SP because I 'hate them', its because of objectively or subjectively, they simply aren't a good fit with the Pumpkins style.

To say they don't fit with what you perceive is the pumpkin's style is simply your opinion - and of course if you don't listen to them I don't expect that you would want to see them perform at all...but you should not be so appalled that someone else might.

I don't want to see a bunch of wanna-be pumpkins, i want to see bands with their own identity.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by blistered_avalon501 - 2006/11/22 10:38

That band they had on their Myspace would be a good fit, I think. The Boxer Rebellion. They're quite unique to me, and they're in need of exposure.

=====

Re: The New SP Tour - Guest Starring?

Posted by Timm Hollowy - 2006/11/22 11:52

"The Dead Science" is a very good band, i wish they would take them on tour.

<http://www.thedeadscience.com/Media/01%20Ossuary.mp3>

=====