Soup Nazi was the best. I like the one where Kramer turns his apartment into a T.V. studio, and everyone who came over ended up being guests on his show.

I like the bizarro world episode where Elaine has new friends that look just like George, Jerry and Kremer. It cracks me up everytime.

The one where a chicken shop open across the street witha big neon sign and Jerry stays in Kramers place and starts to act like Kramer.

The one where Kramer and Neuman collect bottles to make Money.

George does the opposite of everything.

When they go to L.A because Jerry takes "The Keys" from Kramer

And the one --> <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-kMkFmKgEFw&eurl=>

I liked the "wait out" where they are waiting for the marriage to end.

Favorite part;

when jerry is calling George who is trying to get them back together, and Jerry is yelling at him, but he is pretending to talk to him saying

"oh yeah jerry, I would but i already ate. Oh yeah, sure you can borrow it. I really don't see why you prefer the mint chip.'

ahhahaah

i like the "He's gay,..... not that there's anything wrong with that!"
the ending with Kramer is classic.

Also i like the "yadda yadda" episode. "i met my ex boyfriend yesterday, we went up to my apartment, yadda yadda yadda, I'm very tired today."

My favorite is probably the one where Elaine's boyfriend is a communist, and she gets him "blacklisted" at the chinese restaurant.

Or when they rip off the JFK movie and Kramer gets spat on and then curves and kits Neuman.

And the one where George slips his boss a mickey in his drink.

Haha, best show.

I love how George uses the "Believe it or not" theme song for his answering machine message and just changes the words around (Many of u are too young for Believe it or not but it was a cheesy superhero show in the 80's)... I was laughing for days when I heard this !!!
