no not better than the smashing pumpkins. nothing better than that. but i am wondering if anyone knows of any songs/bands that the music is just so intensely beautiful and simple. kinda of like by starlight or something.

Check out the The Delgados, I don't know if the music is simple (some is) but it is beautiful.

Oh yeah, Modest Mouse and Death Cab are alright.

But another band is Muse.

I heard Starlight on Fuse, and got some of their songs and liked it a lot. After a while I ended up going to a MCR concert, and I didn't know who was opening for them. It turned out to be Muse. And wow, I was blown away by their performance. Muse is really great, and did better live than MCR. Not that MCR isn't great. And meh...I guess they've had more practice at it.

Wow, that was a long way to tell you:

"Hey, Muse is a good band :yay check them out."

idk if this would suite your tastes, but the Black Keys are pretty cool. They are just a two piece guitar and drum band with real fuzzy sound with songs that range from southern blues influence, to full on rock.

www.myspace.com/theblackkeys if you're curious. Albums i'd recommend are rubber factory and their latest being magic potion.

Something you've never heard before..... so probably something indie. This is a long list, but if I were you I would download the songs I recommend and see which ones you like the most:

Cold War Kids - "We Used to Vacation"

Broken Social Scene - "Anthems for a Seventeen Year Old Girl"

Andrew Bird - "A Nervous Tic Motion of the Head to the Left"

The Arcade Fire - "Rebellion (Lies)"

Annuals - "Brother"

Band of Horses - "The Funeral"

Blonde Redhead - "Dr. Strangeluv"

Cat Power - "Nude as the News"

Clinic - "Come into Our Room"

Hard-Fi - "Hard to Beat"

Interpol - "Evil"

John Vanderslice - "Exodus Damage"

Junior Boys - "In the Morning"

Kaiser Chiefs - "Ruby"

Kings of Leon - "On Call"

LCD Soundsystem - "Daft Punk is Playing at My House"

M. Ward - "To Go Home"

M.I.A. - "Fire Fire"

Metric - "Handshakes"

My Brightest Diamond - "Something of an End"

New Pornographers - "The Bleeding Hearts Show"

The Noisettes - "Don't Give Up"
The Polyphonic Spree - "Section 12 (Hold Me Now)"
Rilo Kiley - "The Execution of All Things"
The Secret Machines - "First Wave Intact"
The Sleepy Jackson - "Good Dancers"
Stars - "One More Time"
Stars of Track and Field - "Movies of Antarctica"
Tom Vek - "I Ain't Saying My Goodbyes"
TV on the Radio - "Wolf Like Me"
Wilco - "Hummingbird"
Yeah Yeah Yeahs - "Maps"

the muse are a bad rip off of older radiohead...and I wont even say anything about My Chemical Romance....we've already had that debate.

manders listed some awesome stuff that I would suggest and some I havent heard and will check out on my own...I can be pretty hard to please these days I will admit. I actually saw Blonde redhead the other night and it was awesome! I would suggest it!

Re: Looking for better music

The voice of the singer from Muse is reminiscent of Thom Yorke's, very similar, actually. But I think the band is very creative and unique.

I don't recommend listen to new music, most is crap, although there's some good. (Like Muse, Bjork, etc.)

Listen to 80's goth, like Fields of the Nephilim or This Mortal Coil. Billy was inspired by a lot of that music. He cited Bauhaus as an influence.

I wouldn't call Bjork new... well, I guess she does have a new album coming out.

I suggest these albums

- Bjork - Vespertine/Homogenic
- The Delgados - Hate/Universal Audio
- My Bloody Valentine - Sunny Sundae Smile
- R.E.M. - Document/Automatic for the People
- New Order - Get Ready
- Self - Feels like Breakin' Shit
- the pillows - Happy Bivouac/Runners High/Little Busters/Please Mr. Lostman

That's all I can think of right now. :yay
