
ITT: discuss XMEN 3 (spoiler warning, don't read if you haven't seen it)

i didn't like it.

oh where, oh where has brian singer gone

they were noticably different scott was a super dick in the beginning, as was xavier, and wtf was with everybody dying and did anybody else notice the scene right before they invaded the prison...where magneto and the brotherhood were standing at the edge of the bridge getting ready to invade one second it was daytime, the next second it was night!

i agree, but i dont know if you saw the old eps and remember what happens next...:

from what i remember Wolverine killed the evil Phoenix unleashing the good one that was saved by the Shiar b/c shes a key or something... Phoenix didnt really kill Xavier or Scott but actually sent them to another dimension or something and the Shiar queen had some how given the power to walk back the professor. and the cure is fake and will wear off ofcourse. and i think the next movie will be about Wolverine. but this is all based on memory so i might be completely wrong or even correct, who knows?

Yeah, I also felt like the whole movie was just rushed...and unnecessarily so. Brian Singer needs to do the next installment if there is one.

yeah, thats true...but there are a number of different phoenix stories, and the whole birth of the phoenix was wrong in the last film, so I think it's just hard to compare the movie to the comics and stuff lol

if you search for phoenix on wikipedia you get a nice backstory on her, i knew a lot of it, but there was a bunch i didn't know too anyways, first I heard that there were not going to be any more movies then I heard that there would be no more X MEN movies, but there would be spin offs for the different characters like magneto and wolverine then I just recently heard that that was just the end of the first trilogy...it might be like star wars where there is going to be another trilogy so who knows?
