Heroes

They're beginning to broadcast an NBC show called "Heroes" on Belgian tv soon. I saw a poster of it, and it looked just like that LOST picture with all the main characters, so I hope it won't be some kind of cheap LOST ripoff. And I was wondering maybe some of you watch it? Is it good/bad/okay?

I've seen the commercial for it. It looks like a cross of Lost and X-men (also I don't think the people are lost, just looks like it's made by the same people). I don't watch lost anyway.

Soprano's is a great show and Heroes is ok to, but no, it's nothing like lost.

The Soprano's is the best drama on television - PERIOD!!!!

I've never seen heroes but it's mainly about normal people who discover they have super-powers. I've actually heard good things about it.

Yeh, Soprano's is the best, it's at the top there for me just before Lost and 24.

I realize this thread is antiquated but seemed a place as good as any to inquire if anyone else is going through withdrawls of this show? It's my favorite (next to Lost!) Yes, I'm a big dork but Peter Petrelli, Hiro Nakamura and Mohinder Suresh have my heart.

Anyone else?

Heroes is now my favorite TV show. Its amazing.
It took 24's spot even.

So good.

The 1st series of Heroes has just finished on TV in the UK (-on cable and is just starting on terrestrial TV as it happens) and I never missed a show, there were times when I thought this is a good watch but nothings really happening here, but over all the story of the 1st series (or season) was well worth watching. However if you directly compare the writing with Lost, lost is on another level IMO. With lost you get the huge arcing story line the supsense and and story slowly unfolding before you to excellent effect.

BTW

Ive read critisaisms of lost on line such as 'I dont know whats happening' and 'nothings resolved quickly enough' which is just dumb to me, you never know what going to happen next-, and thats the great thing about it.

(heroes has the 'what going to happen next' thing going on but to a lot lesser degree).

Yep as you can tell I love lost.

:monocle -----Jolly good.

Totally agreed, Feedbackcurrent. It's unfair to compare Lost and Heroes. Completely different ballgame. They're brilliant in their own ways. (Although because I was pretty dissatisfied with the first six eps of Lost this season, I was appreciative of how much resolution one does get from Heroes.)

I'm going through Sylar withdrawals. Zachary Quinto is a vision. :D

I've seen two or three episodes of Heroes.

Funny you mention that Trillian, my best friend is obsessed with Sylar. Head over heels in love with his character and himself as a person.

I quote her in saying, "Sylar is one hot evil bastard."

So the question is ... Will Peter, DL and Matt survive? (I'm pretty certain Nathan was a goner, and Sylar ... turned into a cockroach, haha.)

Sylar will stay, I saw an interview where Zachary was talking about the next season, he's so nice guy... nothing like Sylar :D

I'm pretty sure Peter will stay (he can regenerate),... I don't know about DL and Matt (DL wasn't very important, at least to me):p

I just hope not to be disappointed about the 2nd season.

Excelent Program.
Ive watched all of series 1 on Sci Fi channel and Im now watching it again on BBC2...picking up a few things I missed first time round ;) !

This is the only program I actually watch other than random flicking music, news and discovery channels. (I think I average about 1 hour TV a day at the most)

I like how they are getting stuck straight into the action this time round. I like the new "Speedster" girl very funny the way she interacted with Hiro.... before laying him out cold....LOL

I think they should have dumped Niki/Jessica/Tracy. She never really seemed that interesting in the scheme of things and her story lines always seemed like program filler material compared to the other characters.

I think it is the best show on tv right now.

Yes Nemesis is awesome :)

yeah that Jessica/Nikki/Tracy/ whoever she'll be next is my least favorite. A bit confusing, but I am sure there will be more to the mystery of her at some point..

One - I refuse to accept that Sylar is a Petrelli. That's too easy! I mean, is EVERYONE on the darn show a Petrelli? Seriously!

Two - Matt being stuck in Africa on his spirit quest. They already tried marooning one character (Hiro) last season, and it felt so removed from the rest of the series.

Three - There was so much potential in the "Peter's stuck in Jesse's body" story line, but they killed it already!

BUT I am loving Sylar teaming with HRG and them secretly plotting to kill each other. :) And it's nice that Mohinder finally got a power.

FREAKING AWESOME EP LAST NIGHT.

Sylar has a son. WHOA. I mean, I've always had a crush on the guy, but as Gabriel and as a dad, he just got a ton hotter. :)

Don't you mean had a son?

I want to know what happens to Claire, the online novels hint around her parents getting killed.

The other thing I am still trying to understand is why Peter would need Gabriel's power, he can have any power he wants, just by standing by the person. Why would he need to know how things work?

I also think all the people we know from the first season were givin the shot that gave them abilites, from their parents, hiro's dad - petrelli mom - the gold guy - tracey's doctor - parkmans dad, basically all who were in that picture that were targeted for death by adam. Oh and why is adam the key -as petrelli mom states to hiro. I have so many questions.

I've never read the online novels. How accurate have they been in predicting the TV eps?

Good point on Peter. I really don't have a good speculation on that.

I would have to disagree with you on the shot thing, though. I think a lot of the "Heroic families" let's call them share powers through heredity and DNA, not the shot. I would think Hiro, Elle, Claire, Peter, Nathan, Parkman, Molly and Michah all obtained their powers through DNA. But Tracey, Barbara and Nikki were definitely experimented on. I'd say Sylar, too (I STILL don't think he's really Angela's son).

The only guess about why Adam is the key is because he's possibly the first Petrelli in the family lineage who had a power. (Yeah, I think he's a Petrelli.)

There is over 100 comic novels on the site now, they are pretty cool, some of them extend on the show story line. Link to the first <http://www.nbc.com/Heroes/novels/index.shtml?novel=1>

Yeah, I wasn't sure if the people in the picture, all the parents, had abilities and they wanted their kids to as well so they used the formula, since hiro's dad had one half of the formula - kind of a stretch I know. It does make more sense about the genetics aspect - DNA being passed to kids.

Yeah I think sylvan is being manipulated by angela, not really a petrelli family member, Does she have the power of future site? or the power of persuasion.

Adam may be the one who came up with the formula, there is also a graphic novel about his life and wives over the past 200+ years.

I can't wait for next monday now.
