Dreams

i generally have the weirdest dreams, but lately theyve been getting weirder. i have alot of dreams about billy I am laughing out loud. but thats a given hahaha. had a dream the other week that i was making out with Micheal Stipe from REM (yeaaaah i know...gay)

i read a cool thing about dreams and how theyre basically the minds ramblings at night and generally nothing too deep (like messages from other worlds hahaha) unless your worried or focused on a particular thing that comes up alot, but simply the cinema of the mind...cool eh?

i know its hard to recall dreams but if you can remember, post some of the ones that have stood out, im interested to know whats going on in other peoples heads while theyre asleep!

i love dreams though, often the best time of my day is going to bed and hoping that ill have cool dreams and that ill remember them (you only remember them if u wake up while, or just after them, unfortunatley) and the worst is generally waking up in the morning haha or a good dream ending too soon (doesnt it always hapen that way???? I am laughing out loud.)

anyhoo, let me know!!!

I can never remember my dreams. In the few I can remember I'm always trying to escape something...police, aliens, a building that's rigged to explode, just always running for my life. Someone told me that it means i'm not satisfied with my position in life or something like that but I think it's my mind telling me to star in an action movie.

for a brief period i was having crazy dreams every night. Not so much now though. My best dream that i can remember where i woke up feeling really good the next morning was one where i died and was a ghost type of thing. I could move through walls and floors and everything. I even went to this one lady who told me how i died. Turns out i overdosed on perscription painkillers...which is not really something i do in real life but whatever. My other favorite dreams that i can remember are of the erotic nature...

some of my nightmares i have though are usually about work. For some reason i have a recurring dream that people keep finding ways to get into our store, even though the doors are locked and we are closed and then they keep asking for like a million balloons and so i can't ever go home.

tell about your nightmares too!

I dreamt that I was putting up Christmas lights last night.

The night before I dreamt I was on a cruise to the south pole and got to swim with the penguins and seals. Sometimes Billy pops up in my dreams too, but it's never exotic, always lucid. Like I'm in line to get his autograph, or I'm with my friends at a show. But I did have one interesting dream a couple years ago where I was hitching my way home, and Billy gave me a ride in his truck. I remember it because I wrote a poem about it that day. In the dream I knew who he was and was a little nervous, but he just smiled and cracked jokes and was laid back and nice. And I thought to myself, "Wow, he's just a regular nice guy." It was very lucid, I mean I didn't really know that I was dreaming, because everything was normal, we seemed to be driving and talking for a long time, at one point we watched the sunrise. And then the mountains came up and I started to feel sad because I knew that I was almost home but I was going to miss his company. That's when I woke up, but the dream was so real that as I was eating breakfast I actually caught myself thinking, "I hope Billy made it to Chicago alright."

i was in utah, and when you are at an elevation you are not used to, you have weird dreams.

one had to do with the pumpkins: I was in my room and billy and jimmy walk in, i say hello, and they say hi. Jimmy was bald and they told me they were going to be the first all bald band to tour the U.S. that was about it.

another dream i had was were aliens came to blow up our town, and my mom wanted to leave without the petsso i went and got them also, i dreamed that i was driving our boat down a ski mountain- that would have been quite hard to drive a fifty foot boat through a bunch of trees.....

We should invent some kind of dream VCR, that would be awesome.

I've never had dreams regarding the Pumpkins or any kind of celebrities. I don't really have nightmares though, my dreams are just really weird situations. Like one I can remember alright, was for some reason I was at my school's oval during the night, and theres some weird gas tanker truck there with a giant floodlight. Does anybody dream in third person sometimes as well? It's really hard to explain my dreams because they just have such weird combinations, and nothing normal ever happens. My psychology calss had to write a dream diary for 2 weeks, and after our teacher told us to do that, nobody was able to remember what they dreamt.

I remember I was going to Canada with my family to steal some stuff from someone, and Canada was up on this mountain. So we climbed up it, and it started snowing, and then this car came around fast, and snow flew at us, and we fell down the mountain. Then we were running down the hill, and then wolves started chasing us, and below us at the bottom of the mountain was a rainforest, and the only way to cross it was by jumping. Then when we were hopping across it, it was like jumping on the moon, we were going super high. Then those wolves were still chasing us, but when we got home, we were safe.

We then went in my yard, and my dogs were gone, because the gate was opened. Then my parents told me "Hildie really died in 1998, and we've been covering it up."

So actually, my dog has been dead for 8 years, but we had a secret replacement dog to cover it up.

More to come...

Yeah, it is my brother used to do it...it's not associated with REM sleep though (mostly the dream sleep) which most people think is when people sleepwalk. It's a lot deeper and it's not a great idea to wake them up just to guide them back into bed. Similar things that the same people who are prone to it do, are flailing about and talking in their sleep. It's different to REM dream sleep as when they wake up they don't remember even though you only ever remember a dream when you wake up out of it or just after. I used to go in to my little brother while he was screaming and thrashing about (it was scary) and he'd wake up and wouldn't remember a thing. It's called night terrors apparently. It's all very confusing as they say one thing and then another....I found an alright link that I'll post with all the stages, it's very interesting

I was home a few weeks ago, cause I was sick, and I woke up, still half asleep. I opened my eyes, and saw my backpack lying in the corner of the room. I jumped out of the bed and started yelling

"DON'T PEE ON THE FLOOR SAM!"

I thought it was my dog, but he was actually right on my bed next to me, staring at me.

That's kind of like a dream, haha.

I had a dream recently where Billy w/ hair and Billy w/out hair were two separate people vying for creative control of the Smashing Pumpkins. It was weird.

Here are some other strange ones...

- The one where my parents were trying to kill me.
- The one where I was a hang-gliding lego figurine.
- The one where I was karate fighting Vietnamese lawyers in the jungle.
- The one where my friend died and I had blood all over my hands but didn't know why (chilling!)
- The one where I got into a gun battle with teacher aides from my elementary school, died, and respawned in my driveway.

-Numerous ones where I was performing awesome guitar solos before massive audiences but didn't know how I was doing it.

no its usually that if youre woken up mid dream or right after that you'll remember it. if u sleep right through and hardly wake up, or dont wake up during REM sleep, when dreams mainly occur, you wont remember your dreams.

I'm generally a happy person and I dont have any major issues or anything but most of the time I dream about muder, rape and being chased...like usually I'm trying to escape some killer or I am the killer or cougars are coming for me...and while I'm dreaming I can control the events..lucid dreaming rules..but sometimes it would be nice to dream about flowers and love..not weird shit. I guess subconsciously I have some problems I dont know.

And i said i wanted to go to the grand rex show in paris and talk to billy after. So i got flown over and watched the concert, all 4 originals were back, the james saying he was out was a joke. And billy had grown hair, it was weird, it was like David Bowie. The songs were fucking awesome. Because i didnt have long to live, billy gave me a copy of the album to listen to but before i could listen to it i got woken up!!! doesnt that just give you the shits??!!!!

Dougy, I had a similar dream the other night. First, I was at a huge Pumpkin convention milling around talking to a bunch of fans. Then, all 4 original members unexpectedly got up on a stage and started playing older songs and new songs from Zeitgeist. In the next part of my dream, I was at school listening to my mp3 player, and I found Zeitgeist on there and I listened to it. It really rocked, but it didn't sound like the Tarantula clip, more like an SD era album. Finally, I was watching TV, and it was like 10 years in the future, and The Smashing Pumpkins were receiving a Grammy. They were performing Today, but it was extremely weird because Billy looked old and he had long hair, and he was playing the piano.

HABA! My first Zeitgeist dream! I was sitting in an English class, and the teacher was explaining about The Smashing Pumpkins, and they kept showing pictures of the Pumpkins Flag, and saying, "this is the new cover." and I started correcting whoever the teacher was saying, "No no, the new cover looks like this and that." and I show everyone in the class a huge picture of the album cover, explaining it to them, then this one chick stands up and starts bitching me out because she listens to "booty music" (rap, hip hop whatever it's called) and she starts chasing me. I'm weird.

sudoku? what, are you 80?, jk jk

I dreampt that the music scene was a battle field, and billy was the commander of the forces of good, and 50 cent was the comander of the forces of evil (with the slutty cat dolls as his officers) and they fought the battle through the medium of song, and seeing as the forces of evil have nothing to back up their music they got whitewashed when billy and the band played cherub rock, and played the best solo ever made by a man, it was so good that everyone died from amazement. The end :)D

I drempt that our class went on an excursion or "field trip" as you americans would call it. And it turned out to be a shoe factory :( But then when we were getting onto the bus billy walked up to me and said to come with him, but the teachers thought he was a pedophile or something, so i had to run away. When i got in billy's purple limo the whole band was there, the 4 originals, they said "we wanted to let you know that we are all back, but dont tell anyone, if this is kept a secret we will play for your 18th birthday in a few months"

I woke up and had that horrible sinking feeling you get when you realise that it was all just a dream :(

I had the weirdest dream last night...

I had to drive over to my highschool and pick up a few people I knew, my Smashing Pumpkins buddy Olive-and then I couldn't find her, and I got a message on my phone from Dougy saying, "can you pick me up?" and I was driving around the campus. I got out and sent Dougy a message saying "Olive can't go to the concert, you're going, where are you?" and Dougy replied back saying, "I'm in the school I'll be out in a few moments." So I went to my car and tried to blast Smashing Pumpkins like I normally do, but it wouldn't work, and then Dougy sent me another message saying he doesn't want to go to the SP concerts anymore.

Crazy.

I often have dreams where I'm in love with someone (usually they love me back), and it's always either someone I've only seen or met once or twice, or someone who doesn't exist at all. It feels awful when I wake up, because there's this tremendous sense of longing, and loss that I never experience in real life...the being in love only in my dreams makes me incredibly mellon collie, as I've never had any sort of "relationship", and never will...

My dream a night or two ago was sad. :(

I was with my pumpkins buddy Olive, and we decided to go to the hospital on these motor scooter things in the rain to get some of those scrubs they wear. And since it's a hospital who else shows up but this character from General Hospital (and we didn't even go to that specific hospital) and the guy was trying to get me to smoke weed. And I had it in my hand and I was taking a hit and I look over and see Billy looking at me and he has this look of disappointment. And I start to go after him to apologize but he just turns his back and walks away and I can't catch up and I never got to tell him how sorry I was.

I had a reeeally weird dream about me & my girlfriend last night. To save me from repeatedly calling her 'my girlfriend' her name is Rachel. ANYWAY:

For some reason we were in Africa like walking through the desert. It was like a traditional view of Africa on like documentries & stuff with its muddy ground & dead trees etc, with random animals like elephants walking round. Then for some reason (similar to that scene in Jurrasic Park) rach discovered a Tricheritops (a big fat dinosaur with horns for you n00bs) & it was lying on the floor basically dead. Then suddenly the sky went all cloudy & all these war planes started flying overhead & Rachel was like "oh now we won't be able to get back home or our plane will be shot down so we will have to stay here the night." So then we walked back to our holiday home which looked like it was a slum while all we could hear from outside were these war planes shooting down any normal planes that tried to leave the country. Then suddenly I was in my old house & when I say old I mean it, I lived there like twelve years ago, & Rachel & me were sitting in the lounge & for some reason her parents were there & her mum had like a big camera & was just randomly taking pictures of everything. Then I was under the impression that Rachel had to leave to go somewere but I didn't know were & we were like hugging & I was really upset & her mum was taking pictures of us. Was weird as hell. Then I woke up...

If anyone could be bothered to read that do you know if it could have meant anything?

I told him that I couldn't go because I had to meet the band and see the live. My other cousin tells me to give up the tickets because we HAVE to go to Iran for some stupid occasion. I started to cry and pack my bags and my pumpkin CDs and then my cousin tells me "You can't bring those with you, they'll get them from you in customs, remember?" I cried harder and begged my cousins to let me stay behind and they told me to stop fooling around and finish packing. Then my other cousin takes my tickets (for some reason I had them on me) and doesn't even like pumpkins. I woke up REALLY relieved. :sigh

Last night I dreamed that I was back at the pumpkins show, and Ginger was playing drums and Jimmy was playing bass. And something went wrong and Ginger lost her drum stick and she went to get another one, Jeff was on the phone and Jimmy was in his own world. During the concert there was a break and the band was on stage, and Billy was yelling at all of them about how they acted on stage, and he was doing this all right in front of me. Then this one girl I knew that I went to highschool with, she went to play the drums and Billy and Jimmy kicked her off. So then we're all standing around in groups, I'm running around with other people going "The concert isn't over! Cheer for an encore!" But no one would do it.

Then the pumpkins were outside my aunt's house in the suburbs and the King and Queen of England were telling Billy how much they admired his work. Then Billy put a fire out with a lint remover...after yelling at the band again.

Yeah I went to their concert last night...that could be the reason why, that and eating snacks after the concert. WTF is wrong with me? :confused

I had a dream billy was telling the crowd that he wrote this new song (they were about to play a new song) about james iha and how the entire time he was in the pumpkins he was on a quest to become a sheep, although he never realized his dream. And then he said this song's called Sheep Sheep Sheep and they played this song and it was strange cause I didn't know I could make up whole songs in my head lyrics and all. It was just lisa and billy playing I think. This was like 2 nights ago. It was really vivid too.

That sucks about your dream persian. It sucks even worse when it's a really good dream and you wake up to find out it's not true. I've had dreams where I'm in the pumpkins... instead of jeff. Then I wake up and it's like fuckkk. Fuck you, Jeff.

Haha, your dream kicks my dream's ass. You were at The Fillmore as well? Or was this at The Orange Peel? I'm still trying to figure how the King and Queen of England got in my head last night.

Wow, maybe you have a bitter grudge against Jeff that you're just not aware of yet? :p

I'm very aware of my grudge against jeff. >_< and I was at the Fillmore. It was really weird. I was floating in front of Billy and I was sort of like connected mentally somehow, it's one of the strangest dreams I've ever had. It was in sort of like bad video quality. I don't know, I've never had a dream like that before. but yeah.. I'm more of a pumpkin than jeff could ever be :jamescry < see james wanted me to replace him if it had to be anybody.

Haha! Aww, I feel your pain. I do have pumpkin dreams, but I don't remember all of them, most of them are me watching them on TV and there's something going on.

Yay someone else who was at The Fillmore! I'm always there! The band's probably like, "Oh God, it's that girl again..." :D

hah, well, I wasn't there physically. I was there in my dream. I thought that's what you meant. I recognized the curved light cages behind them. I'm still waiting for them to get close enough to El Paso :( I'm starting to think billy hates this town. Next time you're at a pumpkins concert yell "GO TO EL PASO, TEXAS" for me :-D

Haha, ohh okay! You know what I've been trying to do?! I made a HUGE sign that says " :heart TOUR IN AUSTRALIA!" but they wouldn't let me bring it in, and when I tried putting it on a piece of larger paper folded in my purse, they made me throw it away. What am I going to do? Paper cut the band to death?! Flying paper airplanes of doom?!

But if I get a chance to, I will tell them to go to El Paso, Texas AND Australia. :D

In the many years of being a Pumpkins fan, through the tumultuous relationships and experiences, I had never dreamed of Them at all. Recently, I have had two dreams, both similar in nature, and both about the band and their tour. Weird as it may seem, but each time in my dreams, they have played at show where I am present and them both being in either churches or near the weeping wall(me being Jewish). And also in last night's dream, in the midst of disaster. Such as a terrorist attack on a national landmark, hospital, or the like. It is so weird.

I dreamed that I was waiting in line for the pumpkins concert with my cousin, but we had to babysit his little brother and his little brother really wanted to go swimming, so they put the concert on hold while we took him to the pool.

My sister talks in her sleep, and she never speaks English when she does it, she always speaks Farsi (Persian) and she never really speaks that when she's awake, so it's interesting to hear her say "Yes the tea is lovely, thank you" in Farsi when you're walking past her room at about two in the morning. And what she says never has anything to do with her dream either. It's really funny actually.

Crazy dream.

Mine last night was that my friend Luna kept telling me to go to Saudi Arabia with her to see a pumpkins show. And I kept saying, "Luna it's not there, it's in Turkey." And she said, "NO! They announced a show over here! Billy's going to be playing at this big arena here!"

Strange thing, she doesn't like pumpkins...yeah no more Italian food before bed.

Yeah every dream I have lately is a pumpkins dream...I think it's from the concerts.

The next morning after the concert I woke up to the radio, Cherub Rock was playing, the next morning was 1979...

So I'm not the only one who dreams that they're at school?!

I had a dream awhile back that I was back in my old philosophy class...and Billy was at the door and he kept motioning for me to leave in the middle of class. I kept shaking my head "no" but he kept telling me to come out. Then Jeff's sitting behind me and he goes "this class blows, I'm going to leave" Ginger's sitting a few seats in front of us and she says "SHH! I'm trying to take notes!" and Jeff goes "SHH!" to her. Jimmy's also there, he's in the corner air-drumming. James walks in and slaps Jeff a high-five and then he says "later" and leaves. Then I get up to leave and when I walk outside the class to see Billy, he's gone.

I went to school with the Smashing Pumpkins! Why can't class really be like that?!

I didnt have a normal dream, but i had one of the most vivid daydreams ever. Last week i was doing exams in this hall, i was pretty much half asleep for most of them, and infront of us there was this big stage, and in my head i could just hear all of a sudden, over the complete silence "THE WORLD IS A VAMPIRE!" then the curtains open and they play a 3 hours set :D
