
Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/07/25 02:21

So, i was wondering what peoples response would be, call it "emo" or whatever other ignorant insult you can think up if you would like, but i am actualy after a serious answer.

For me personaly, i wouldnt, i would let it play out naturaly.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Inconspicuous - 2007/07/25 02:28

Yes. The world is full of people and places and things that I love. And I don't want to die. I don't want it to end, so I would do my best to save it if I could.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by thirtythree - 2007/07/25 08:45

our forefathers have done their best to destroy our planet,& we're left to try & clean up their mess-which is a big mess at that,im trying my best-being green & all that-i dont drive,i try to do my best,but im thinking that it might be a little late,but i can die knowing i gave it my best,& it wasnt us that screwed our planet over-but theres not much comfort in that.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by PersianBellyDancer - 2007/07/25 17:57

If I knew the world was going to end and I had the power to save it, I'd create a new one. Start over again, this time you wouldn't die because you wear a scarf on your head, or because you're not "white enough" :(

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/07/26 01:32

Agreed!

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by PersianBellyDancer - 2007/07/26 23:50

:)

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Jeffrey Zeitgeist - 2007/07/27 09:09

I'm all for the destruction of our planet - just not while I'm on it.

If this "imminent" destruction were to occur after the lifetimes of me and mine, I honestly couldn't care less. I'm sure the universe would be a better place without so much evil in it.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by thirtythree - 2007/07/27 11:43

wow-we're a pretty positive group in here-going by the poll-over 77 percent would save the world,thats cool :billy.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by disarm - 2007/07/27 15:21

I'm not going to say emo or any other "ignorant" result, but why not save the world? I'm guessing that there at least some things in this world that you are attached to and wouldn't want to lose. Yeah, a lot of the world is screwed up, but don't just leave it that way because seems hopeless, at least try and fix it.

Just my thoughts...

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Feedbackcurrent - 2007/07/27 17:36

dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg30828#msg30828 date=1185355289] For me personally, i wouldnt, i would let it play out naturally.

(Interesting question)

Yes but if you have the awareness and ability to stop 'the end of the world/destruction of the planet maybe that makes you natural part of those events (I know what i mean, but does that make sense? it late and im tired after work ha ha).

Yes I'de stop the destruction, yes the world is full of sickening evil and bad people but its also full of goodness beyond belief, plus there are are far to many obviously innocent things that dont deseve detruction (deep man -I am laughing out loud.).

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by disarm - 2007/07/27 18:44

Hooray!

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/07/27 19:02

Feedbackcurrent link=topic=1871.msg31084#msg31084 date=1185582982]
dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg30828#msg30828 date=1185355289] For me personally, i wouldnt, i would let it play out naturally.

(Interesting question)

Yes but if you have the awareness and ability to stop 'the end of the world/destruction of the planet maybe that makes you natural part of those events (I know what i mean, but does that make sense? it late and im tired after work ha ha).

Yes, i see what you mean, but the same could be said for the reverse, whatever i chose would have been predestined anyway, so the natural series of events would be whatever my choice was.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Believe - 2007/08/03 09:23

Well if u can stop it and u dont - doesnt that mean that U DESTROYED THE WORLD???

I dont need that kinda guilt.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by kathryngaddy - 2007/08/03 10:01

dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg31090#msg31090 date=1185588152]
Feedbackcurrent link=topic=1871.msg31084#msg31084 date=1185582982]
dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg30828#msg30828 date=1185355289] For me personally, i wouldnt, i would let it play out naturally.

(Interesting question)

Yes but if you have the awareness and ability to stop 'the end of the world/destruction of the planet maybe that makes you natural part of those events (I know what i mean, but does that make sense? it late and im tired after work ha ha).

Yes, i see what you mean, but the same could be said for the reverse, whatever i chose would have been predestined anyway, so the natural series of events would be whatever my choice was.

agreed. i believe in predestination.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by doopydoogle - 2007/08/03 10:53

Well, the world's going to keep on going for some time now. The big question is, will we be a part of it? :down

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/03 21:40

Believe link=topic=1871.msg31550#msg31550 date=1186158226]
Well if u can stop it and u dont - doesnt that mean that U DESTROYED THE WORLD???

I dont need that kinda guilt.

If you let something happen can you be blamed for it? even if you dont directly cause it?

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Pumpklone - 2007/08/04 13:42

You might not be able to be blamed for it but if you do let something bad happen that only you could stop your kind of a cock.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/04 19:17

I dont see why.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/08/04 20:10

if u could do something and don't, you are at fault.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by yteah - 2007/08/04 21:34

is this spose to be about we all have to do our own part thing???

i chose yes, because you gotta do what you gotta do all i did was turn off the car as much as possible, n turn off lights and stuff, :D

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Dasuitekilla - 2007/08/04 23:32

I'd save the world. But only for myself... If I had a choice to either die along with the world or save the world I'd save it but in any other occasion... I don't know...

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by MklCorgan - 2007/08/05 00:31

If i had the power to save it, i know i'll do it, cause i think human kind is not yet reaching an end, i think we have much to learn before we part as a race and i would like to believe that we are in some kind of cycle wich is not finished yet, if humankind is good or evil is not for us to decide, or at least i dont think i could make that kind of decision (good or bad). everybody speaks for themselves, and nobody can really see the big picture.

By the way, I know this is a little off topic, but, have any of you recieved a chain mail, with the proposal to turn off any electric apliances the next 11th from 19:53 to 20:HRS ? do you think it could make a difference? i mean as a way to take a little step and try to "save the world" by giving it a "breath"? i usually dont give a shit about chain mail but then again i sometimes feel good thinking i made an effort to change the world... what do u think?

:heart

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Pumpklone - 2007/08/05 13:36

dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg31618#msg31618 date=1186280229]

I dont see why.

Let's say the thing/person you loved the most in the world was about to be destroyed/killed by "Dr. Evil" and he asks some completely random person "If you tell me not to kill/destroy this thing/person I won't" and this random person goes "I couldn't give a shit" and "Dr. Evil" kills/destroys this person/thing what would your opinion of completely random person be? :confused

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by yteah - 2007/08/05 18:47

Pumpklone link=topic=1871.msg31653#msg31653 date=1186346199]

dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg31618#msg31618 date=1186280229]

I dont see why.

Let's say the thing/person you loved the most in the world was about to be destroyed/killed by "Dr. Evil" and he asks some completely random person "If you tell me not to kill/destroy this thing/person I won't" and this random person goes "I couldn't give a shit" and "Dr. Evil" kills/destroys this person/thing what would your opinion of completely random person be? :confused thats a whole different context...

i love the idea of everyone turning shit off someday, but the factories and shit couldnt ever do it, we have to blow em up!!

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/06 04:04

I dont think if you let something happen you are at fault. If you see someone getting killed and dont try and stop them you cant get accused of murder in a legal sence

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Believe - 2007/08/06 05:49

ummm - yes you could.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/06 23:06

Realy?

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Believe - 2007/08/07 05:56

At least in america. Ex. If you stand a watch a girl being raped and dont do anything about it you can be charged as an accessory to that crime.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/08 00:58

Not here i dont think.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by disarm - 2007/08/09 09:55

Great post Believe. I agreed with everything you said.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/09 22:09

I love everyone, but i hate human nature.

PS, i havent watched tv in years.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by yteah - 2007/08/10 17:07

im sure you just hate american nature, lol and because theyre the biggest country in business and media, i think theyre "the world"

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/11 07:05

I hate most things that are intrinsic in each of us.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Trillian - 2007/08/11 12:40

Hey hey hey, yteah. Again, let's not turn the topic into nationality-bashing. The "they" you speak of do not represent all Americans. Besides, there are plenty of people from every country out there who think that they're the "world" as you put it. Everyone can be guilty of delusions of grandeur.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by PersianBellyDancer - 2007/08/12 00:54

Trillian link=topic=1871.msg32134#msg32134 date=1186861216]

Hey hey hey, yteah. Again, let's not turn the topic into nationality-bashing. The "they" you speak of do not represent all Americans. Besides, there are plenty of people from every country out there who think that they're the "world" as you put it. Everyone can be guilty of delusions of grandeur.

Well said.
There's good people and bad people in every ethnicity and nationality.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Believe - 2007/08/14 07:44

dougydarkangel link=topic=1871.msg32108#msg32108 date=1186841113]
I hate most things that are intrinsic in each of us.

So basically you hate bad things about people - what about the good things? They don't count because of the bad things??

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/15 05:14

Those seem to be few and far between

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by Believe - 2007/08/15 05:58

The way you look at things may affect the way you see them.

=====

Re: Save the World?

Posted by dougydarkangel - 2007/08/15 06:12

I can agree with that, but the way i look at things has been shaped my my own experiences.

=====