
3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/10/31 16:06

does anyone think it's possible? especially with zeitgeist possibly going platinum in the next two months or less? It would prob be bring the light since it's already on the radio

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by PistolPete - 2007/10/31 17:59

Well, I've heard Starz and Neverlost on the radio as well. I don't think that necessarily means they will be singles. However if there is another single (which I don't think there will be) Starz would make a better choice.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by Homicidal_Illama - 2007/10/31 19:21

There won't be another single but if there had to be one probably Starz of Bring the Light:billy

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by PumpkinPieces - 2007/10/31 21:51

Bring the Light would be sweet, thats my favorite song off the album. I'd be interested in what the music video would be like.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by TeacupHeart - 2007/10/31 22:25

Currently my favorites are Seven Shades of Black, Bring the Light, and Neverlost.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/11/01 01:41

why would there be no third single? hasn't this album sold more than machina? machina got 3...

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by marydoesnotforget - 2007/11/01 10:46

Bring the Light would be an awesome single, I reckon.

Yip, that's all I've got to contribute.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by marydoesnotforget - 2007/11/01 10:53

Oh also, I don't think For God and Country would be quite as good as BtL as a single, but it could have a wicked video. I've already thought out the whole video in my head...does anyone else do this with songs? :roll

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by Homicidal_Illama - 2007/11/01 13:17

marydoesnotforget wrote:

Oh also, I don't think For God and Country would be quite as good as BtL as a single, but it could have a wicked video. I've already thought out the whole video in my head...does anyone else do this with songs? :roll Always. I'd really love to be a video director!

But I very much doubt they'll be another single. They are coming to the end of the tour. I just can't see it... Plus your forgetting Doomsday Clock was a digital single so technically they've already had three!!

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by ghostchild - 2007/11/01 14:12

as far as billboard and radio stations go, there have only been 2 singles.

i don't know why there wouldn't be a third. i work in radio and i think there are several songs that would work fantastically on the radio.

bring the light, come on lets go, for god & country, 7 shades of black, bleeding the orchid, starz all come to mind immediately.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by damthesehighheels - 2007/11/01 14:23

i would imagine that there will not be another single because on the dvd are the videos for Tarantula and That's the Way (My Love Is). why wouldnt they have waited for the next video if they were going to put it out on dvd?

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/11/01 16:48

i thought about that as well. and yea, i can see a lot of videos in my head, especially neverlost and bring the light. i think they'll have one more single due to them going platinum with zeitgeist.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by blueseatlle - 2007/11/02 14:13

First off, I'm so glad this site is back. I missed you guys. I hate netphoria, so this makes me happy that you are all back.

Second, "Bring the Light" has to be the third single. It's the catchiest off the album and already has been well received.

I agree, some ideas for videos have already been popping in my head. I'm thinking of a room filled with light bulbs, all shapes, colors, and oddities. As the song progresses, they get brighter, start cracking, etc. I also see that they need a new video director.

I suggest someone young and original... or hell, one of their old directors. And no more of this D'arcy look alike crap.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by Homicidal_Illama - 2007/11/02 14:35

blueseattle wrote:

First off, I'm so glad this site is back. I missed you guys. I hate netphoria, so this makes me happy that you are all back.

Second, "Bring the Light" has to be the third single. It's the catchiest off the album and already has been well received.

I agree, some ideas for videos have already been popping in my head. I'm thinking of a room filled with light bulbs, all shapes, colors, and oddities. As the song progresses, they get brighter, start cracking, etc. I also see that they need a new video director.

I suggest someone young and original... or hell, one of their old directors. And no more of this D'arcy look alike crap.

True that. I hate all this CGI crap, CGI in general pisses me off. Thats two videos now entirely done on green screen. What do you mean by D'arcy look alike crap by the way??

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/11/02 14:43

probably on the that's the way video at the end. but btl has the best chance

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by ringer7 - 2007/11/02 20:43

"Bring the Light" barely edging out "Starz"

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by Geek N.Z. - 2007/11/03 00:48

Thank goodness thepumpkins.net is finally back! it felt like forever...

I always thought that come on lets go would be a single as soon as i first heard it, but when i thought of the possibility of a no green screen and no CGI video, i thought that bring the light would definitely suit that well.

particularly that idea about light bulbs and so on...

simplicity totally made the previous videos.

i wonder what cherub rock would have looked like if the director didn't screw it up..

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by Felix - 2007/11/03 01:07

Quite obviously Neverlost and For God and Country would be crappy 3rd singles, they need to take Zeitgeist out on a bang with Bring the Light or 7 Shades, I really even wouldn't say no to ma Belle, that song is absolutely gorgeous and makes me feel like the old days again, and not a CGI video either.

For God and Country is good for walking fast when you're stressed btw :P

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by ghostchild - 2007/11/03 03:08

Felix wrote:

Quite obviously Neverlost and For God and Country would be crappy 3rd singles, they need to take Zeitgeist out on a bang with Bring the Light or 7 Shades, I really even wouldn't say no to ma Belle, that song is absolutely gorgeous and makes me feel like the old days again, and not a CGI video either.

For God and Country is good for walking fast when you're stressed btw :P

ma belle is great, but you can't make a song that wasn't even on the original album a single. :yay

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by marydoesnotforget - 2007/11/03 06:53

Well the song I made a video in my head for was For God and Country, but since we're speculating Bring the Light is the next video, here goes:

it's mainly a performance video, but kinda with a story. They're playing in a club, there are a couple of top secret spy type guys who are trying to kidnap and kill them. These guys manage to capture them, but SP Bring the Light awesome styles, beat the spy guys, and rock. Basically. I won't bother going into details of what stuff happens where in the song.

Oh, I also thought a really basic performance video where they're playing a small show where EVERYONE was billy would be neat (and a kind cute commentary for the haters out there). Like, it's Billy singing, playing all three guitars, and drums, as well as the audience being lots of Billys. There are chick Billys. Billy is the security at the club. Everyone in the video is Billy. Yeah.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by MarquisInClubs - 2007/11/03 23:58

In reply to a few things on this thread:

1. Netphoria is comprised mainly of douchebags and the occasional ingrown pube.
 2. I think BTL will be the next single since TTWMLI is a "softer" song.
- =====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/11/05 00:11

i totally agree about netphoria. and i totally agree they need to go out with a bang with zeitgeist. btl, come on lets go, or 7 shades of black would be the "bang" idea. and i'm liking the creativity marydoesnotforget

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by damthesehighheels - 2007/11/05 01:15

ghostchild wrote:
Felix wrote:

ma belle is great, but you can't make a song that wasn't even on the original album a single. :yay it wouldnt be unprecedented... the deftones did it for the white pony album.

again, i dont think another single is coming guys. why put the first two videos out on a dvd if you know you are gonna make a third? it doesnt make sense...

although i would think a live cd and or dvd would be out soon... that was mentioned previously with the Gossamer thing....

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by MarquisInClubs - 2007/11/05 02:40

marydoesnotforget wrote:

Oh, I also thought a really basic performance video where they're playing a small show where EVERYONE was billy would be neat (and a kind cute commentary for the haters out there). Like, it's Billy singing, playing all three guitars, and drums, as well as the audience being lots of Billys. There are chick Billys. Billy is the security at the club. Everyone in the video is Billy. Yeah.

Sounds like Billy's wet dream come true!

:billy :billy :billy :billy :billy :billy !!!!!

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by blueseatlle - 2007/11/05 02:58

"Bring the Light" has to be. It's such a great song. Yes, I already commented to this, but I can't shake the song out of my head. That solo, that palm muting... so great.

I really want a solid video and I believe this is the song to do it. But, like everyone else says, it probably won't happen.

=====

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by marydoesnotforget - 2007/11/05 10:30

MarquisInClubs wrote:
marydoesnotforget wrote:

Oh, I also thought a really basic performance video where they're playing a small show where EVERYONE was billy would be neat (and a kind cute commentary for the haters out there). Like, it's Billy singing, playing all three guitars, and drums, as well as the audience being lots of Billys. There are chick Billys. Billy is the security at the club. Everyone in the video is Billy. Yeah.

Sounds like Billy's wet dream come true!

:billy :billy :billy :billy :billy :billy !!!!!

Exactly!

Oh, and doomsdayclock, it's not creativity, I'm just blessed (cursed) with a wandering mind :P

Re:3rd Single (Actual, not digital)

Posted by doomsdayclock - 2007/11/05 16:46

haha, as long as we have faith there's a chance

=====