
I'm interviewing Shiny Toy Guns!

Posted by Trillian - 2007/11/25 01:43

This one's probably most for Believe - but I'm interviewing Shiny Toy Guns on Tuesday. Anyone have a burning question for Carah and the gang?

This interview was assigned to me (but I love the Shiny's, so I'm stoked!) For a Web zine that focuses on Los Angeles-based bands. The way I get interviews varies: they might be assigned, I might pitch. And I definitely don't get all of them I want but I have been very very fortunate!

Well, Ruby, if any band I interview happens to make their way to Australia (that's where you're based, right?) and we can set up a photo shoot out there, I'll definitely keep you in mind! :)

The interview went pretty well. Jeremy's phone kept shorting out and he was a little standoffish (maybe it's because he had just done a radio interview right before me.) We talked about this dance club both of us used to frequent and how the Shynys love to dress up in silly costumes. :)

Corganvision: There are a TON of dream interviews I am still dying to get! David Bowie, Ringo Starr, Jake Gyllenhaal, the cast of Heroes, Zooey Deschanel, Conan O'Brien and Kathleen Hanna.

Excellent. I wish I had seen your post sooner - i would have told you to say hi for me. YEah - Jeremy is usually really busy. He handles most of the buisness for the band. I'm going to see them again this Monday. I dont know if I told u but we hung out after the their show in Orlando last month for like a week.

I have pics of me and the band after the show on their tour bus and hangin at a club Jeremy was DJing at. U can see them here...

Dude - we are good friends now!!! Which makes me proud to say - Shiny Toy Guns are nominated for a GRAMMY this year for best Electronic Album!!!!!!

They deserve it so much - they are such good people, and they have the best live show I've seen in years...

If you haven't checked out their GRAMMY NOMINATED album "We Are Pilots" u should.
