
Frankfurt Soundcheck DVD

For those that are interested...

A German fan recorded the Pumpkins soundcheck before the Frankfurt show. It's pretty neat to see them jamming and working things out. They even practice what seems to be a new song.

A clip of the 49 minute soundcheck is already on youtube.

Apparently he won some sort of contest to meet the band and watch the soundcheck. They were kind enough to sign some things and let him film the soundcheck. Pretty cool if you ask me. Also, if you speak German (sadly I do not), he wrote a review of his day with the Pumpkins along with some pics here

According to this guy, Jimmy told him he had concrete plans to do another Complex album. They are just looking for a singer.

I can't tell if you are joking, but it's a bootleg dude. It's free for anyone to download. The artwork is just to complete the package, which is fairly standard.

This looks interesting, I always look 'behind the scenes' videos of bands.

I'll certainly be downloading this later.

New songs are neat-O.

Why haven't I met the band...? There is no justice in this world.
