OK Rivers Cuomo and anyone else who watches Lost. . Lost is finally back. What do you think???

From the flash forwards, it's obvious the island has seriously screwed these people up mentally.

oo i'm glad you asked. It was pretty crazy. and how about "the oceanic six"? I personally help that those flashforwards aren't necessarily the future set in stone, but maybe what could happen. Cause they are seriously depressing.

Also, did you catch the oceanic airlines commercial?

jack, kate, hurley, then whoever died and had noone at his visitation (probably either sawyer or locke). then maybe claire and aaron...

charlie told hurley to "look after them" or something along those lines, which could have meant looking after claire and aaron for charlie.

Ah, but remember how Desmond was told by the psychic lady that the universe has a way of course-correcting? (Which is why Charlie had to die, etc.) Depressing, but interesting, for sure!

I thought this season premiere lacked a little of the Lost magic, but Jacob's peekaboo shack was cool.

Am I the only one jazzed that Harold Perrineu (as Michael) is returning? I mean, Michael is annoying and EVIL but I think the dynamic of him being back will be pretty awesome.

Re:Lost Season 4

Posted by HeavyMetalMachine - 2008/02/04 20:43

who's Michael again? If he was the black adult, I'm gonna be bummed.

Anyway, about the Oceanic Six.

Wasn't that the name of the Airlines? I dont think that means there were 6 survivors.

Also, I didn't get one part. When Hurley said, "I should have gone with you Jack." what did he mean? Does it mean that when they split up, some were rescued from each group? and maybe the way huley was rescued wasn't in a good way? Or did Hurley feel like he betrayed Jack so he told him he wished he would've gone with him?

And...

It's clear that someone, or a group of people, want Jack, Kate, hurley, and whoever else survived to go back to the island. Who do you think that is? I know we don't know yet but...

I don't know. I've always found that Lost is one of those shows that brings up a bunch of questions, and then never answers them.

Re:Lost Season 4

I wouldn't worry about those unanswered questions, Heavy. Since the writers already have an end-date for the show, they know they have "x" amount of time to get the answers in. It'll happen.

I don't know about the entire show, but these are unanswered questions I want answers to:

*What's up with that 4-toed statue (end of Season 2)?

*Why was Libby in the mental hospital with Hurley?

*Whose funeral was it that only Jack attended?

*Why do talking birds, horses, dead relatives, etc appear on the island? (My guess is the smoke monster manifests them)

*So, what the heck is the smoke monster anyway?

*WHY WON'T PATCHY DIE?

*Why is the Black Rock on the island?

---

Re:Lost Season 4

i think all of those weird things seen around the island have something to do with Jacob.

Has patchy returned from the grenade?

I would also like to learn the origin of the statue, but that's not as high on my list (interesting as it is)

i want to know about smokey

Re:Lost Season 4

I think the smoke monster is some manifestation of "Jacob." But, I want to know who the hell is Jacob, what's his deal, and what kind of control he really has.

I want to know whose funeral it was also, I'm assuming one of the "Oceanic 6." I want to know if "6" meant only 6 of them left the island, or if they are referring to the 6 that live in the same location. Seems like they are all in the same town now. I think Kate is living with Sawyer.

Also, what happens to Juliet??????? You don't see her in the flash forwards?

Guess we'll find out more tomorrow. .

Oceanic Flight 815.

"Oceanic 6" is likely the name that some news station coined for the 6 people who were found.

I'm not saying that only 6 people survive. I think it's pretty clear that only 6 people were rescued though.

Casket- my guess is it's BEN, When asked by the funeral director Jack replies that he is neither friend nor family...Ben's mother died at birth and then he killed his father and all the Darma people leaving no friends or family?

Cabin: when they showed the cabin a few episodes ago there was a profile sitting in the chair....if you freeze frame it, it looks like Jack's father

Flash forward and flashbacks : Did Oceanic stage a plane crash and then find it? The helicopter pilot says that the picture of the Oceanic Pilot is incorrect because there is no wedding ring? Staged crash?

Polar Bear in Tunisia? How did a Darma bear end up here?

This show is unpredictable.

Though it's possible, I totally doubt that it was Ben in the casket. Also, Alex is still his "daughter", no matter how you slice it.

In the cabin, sitting in the chair- yes, it's Christian Sheppard, Jack's dad.

It's unknown whether or not it's Oceanic in of themselves, but a plane was planted and then "found", which is why the Oceanic 6 (There are 7, actually, not including Ben- Trust me) are such a shocking thing.

Dharma has research facilities all over the world. The Hanso Foundation is a global enterprise, and Widmore Corp. is closely tied, etc. etc. so that's your polar bear explanation- they don't put all their eggs in one basket.

Ok, so this last ep, what do you think drove Sayid to be a hitman for Ben? Why would Ben (aka the island's BFF) ever leave the island? And who the heck is Ben's spy on the boat?

And isn't Daniel Farraday really adorable? :)

I putting this out there- Ben is extremely capable. He has real world connections that most people would associate with the likes of FBI, CIA, MI6, etc. Ben is also filthy rich, and has connections to Hanso, Widmore, etc. I like that you call him "the island's BFF", because it's mostly true- he loves the fuck out of the place, knows his place there and role is undeniable, and is willing to do anything to protect it, and his control in it. I don't think it's malicious, either; he's forced to act as moral as a hurricane for his people, for their purpose. As far as Sayid's role, and why he's in bed with Benjamin- it's impossible to tell right now what drove the two to partnership, but it's certain that 1) beside the fact that Sayid has a skill for violence, he's not just doing a job- he's a soldier to the cause for which he now fights, and 2) the bracelet Naomi had, the bracelet the blonde Elsa had, are one in the same, and we haven't seen the last one of those.

I think Siyid is protecting the 'other 5' memebers of the oceanic 6 (he was one) one has died (that is who is in the casket) and Ben is giving him the names of people responsible so he can track them down and kill them.

Lost is on top form.

I don't know... we don't know that the death has happened yet. The flashforwards aren't necessarily all on the same time line. Remember the flashforward at the end of last season? That was definitely ahead of what we're seeing now. Jack had a beard, and he was going off the deep end. So far this season, he's fairly sane, and is just starting to show some peach fuzz.

i think sawyer is in the coffin- no one goes to his funeral, also, he says he has nothing back home, and no one except jack goes, showing that this person has no family, friends, or anyone. maybe something bad happens between him and kate? i dont know, its probably stupid, but i just think that, and im gonna keep saying that.

3. Just ask questions if you want to know something. I don't like spoiling though (I'm a huge fan and can still watch and mark out), so expect to still have to think about things.

I don't know for certain, but my educated theory is that he knows that Claire is (was?) his sister, Aaron his nephew, and seeing him might bring up some tough feelings, being off the island and all.

Timelines are out of skew right now because of the writer's strike making this season 13 eps instead of 16, but I honestly don't know when they'll give a proper go of explaining what it is. There are a few things we do know now, though: It's called Cerberus, as in the 3 headed dog (and splits into 3, itself, as seen here):

http://i205.photobucket.com/albums/bb241/argonandtrash/1\_05\_04\_07\_12\_33\_46.jpg

that guards the gates of hell, and it's movement capabilities were illustrated on the Blast Door Map:

http://i205.photobucket.com/albums/bb241/argonandtrash/LOST\_totalback.jpg within the confines of the island in the rectangular boxes labeled "CV ?", with a roman numeral after. They stand for "Cerberus Vent", and are how it travels without being seen, and pops up seemingly out of thin air.

That aside, there is ONE moster that Dharma is absolutely connected to, which we have SEEN completely:

If you watch closely at the beginning of Cloverfield, you will see a logo for The Pearl.

<http://i205.photobucket.com/albums/bb241/argonandtrash/cloverfieldlost.jpg>

Then, in the FIND815 game, we're treated to this:

<http://i205.photobucket.com/albums/bb241/argonandtrash/ghostly.jpg>

...which is clearly showing us this:

<http://i205.photobucket.com/albums/bb241/argonandtrash/statue.jpg>

You make of that what you will, but Cerberus is a puzzle not yet ready to be figured out.

Well, the relation is that JJ Abrams is behind both LOST and Cloverfield and the point is that he decided a Dharma logo in Cloverfield was necessary. I don't understand what the hell you're asking.

As with most things LOST you have to accept that things are the way they are, then ponder the significance- not ask what makes the sky blue (or purple, in this case) and why.

1. A shot from "Cloverfield"
  2. The same shot worked into the LOST "Find 815" online game.

You know, like The LOST Experience? To some end, LOST materials show Cloverfield images, and to some end Dharma has something to do with Cloverfield.

If you're asking about the SIGNIFICANCE of the connection, I haven't been told. I would suspect, though, that it's a dead ended implication that Dharma is somehow responsible for the creature and/or what the creature did.

No, it moves us ahead. Very much so. Desmond & Penny are endgame. Ben's plant on the freighter- well, you'll see for yourself :O. The snowglobe being protected by a rift in time & space is big news. This episode answered a lot of questions, and did some big things (time jumping and changing the future/current + it being Desmond, who sees the future), and opened a lot of doors for theory.

And I don't trust Dan yet, and I can't like characters on LOST if I can't trust them. Desmond I would bathe in blood and jump in a shark tank for.

LOVED this ep. Not as much as The Constant, but man, Season 4 has been awesome so far!

So, who's lying: Ben or Charlotte (when it comes to that poisonous gas)? And was anyone else kind of happy to see Charlotte pistol-whip Kate? Hehe.

And is it sad that during the Juliet-Daniel-Charlotte tense moment in the Tempest, I was only thinking "DON'T KILL DANIEL!" (Yeah, I have a raging crush on Faraday, haha.

Really?

I found the episode to be a big dissapointmnet. To me it didn't really seem to solve anything.

Solves how Ben killed all the island's Dharma inhabitants off with such efficiency.
Solves who our guests are working for.

Pretty big questions.

Didn't we already know how he killed off everyone?
That gas appeared in an earlier episode.

We knew that he used gas, but not where it came from, how it was spread, how much of it there was, etc.

this episode made me love daniel even more "juliet" said in a whiny voice, hidden behind a gasmask :)

not a great episode, but we needed it to explain something

So can I just say that Sun crying and talking to Jin's grave with the baby was one of the saddest moments in the history of television?

Jin has become so sweet! This episode, admittedly, confused me. A flash-forward AND flashback! (I thought it was all flash-forward until I realized the woman Jin brought the panda to was not Sun.)

So, is Jin really dead or back on the island? Cos his tombstone was dated Sept. 22, 2004 ... the day of the Oceanic 815 crash.

I just wanted to say that last night's ep was awesome. I'm glad Miles didn't explode, haha. But man, CARL AND ROUSSEAU? NOT COOL. You'd think that a woman with such understanding and caution for the island wouldn't get taken out so easily.

Michael can't die? HUH?

do you have a screencap of this? because that's actually a little promising for the "jin's not actually dead" theory yeah, last Thursdays episode was awesome.

We finally know exactly who's after who.

Now the only question is if Ben's the good guy or if Mortimer or whatever his name is is the good guy.

And then of course theres the hundreds of small unanswered questions. To many to list.

I want to offer a poll ...

Do you think _____ staged the crash?

- 1) Ben
- 2) Widmore
- 3) Ben AND Widmore

I'm almost leaning toward #3. Both are crafty men. I wouldn't be surprised if Ben had been playing EVERYONE into thinking the freighter wasn't at least partially his. Especially since the note in the bomb said "not yet." To which Ben later said, "There are some good people on that boat."

ahh crap - I missed last Thursday's episode, because I was on vacation (I forgot to set the DVR!). I hope they do the rerun before the enw show this week, otherwise, I'll ask one of you to do a lengthy recap.

ahhhhh this season is getting so goooooood considering that something totally unexpected happens in lost, I'm gonna go with 3 or even something totally different, you just never know.
